Information Architecture Q & A

What information do we need to deliver?

How can we group that information into pages?

For elements displayed on multiple pages, what information do we need to include on each page?

Which pages should be nested beneath others?